A TRUE STORY OF SCOUTS IN ACTION

He Saved A Man From Drowning!

Aidan Mulqueen, 16, was relaxing with his family during a vacation to Bear Lake in Utah when a woman shouted that a man was struggling in the water far from shore.

Aidan quickly swam out to assist the man and spoke to him to keep him calm.

The man was nearing exhaustion as Aidan helped him regain his grip on his flotation device. Aidan encouraged the man to kick as he towed him back to shore against the strong current.

Aidan continued talking to the man as they swam, and they were eventually safely out of the water.

The man recovered some of his strength but still needed help from his family to walk back to their campsite some distance away. No one was hurt during the incident.

Eagle Scout Aidan Mulqueen, a member of Troop 220, chartered to the Twelve Points Foundation in Chino Hills, California, received an Honor Medal for his actions.
